

LOOKING INTO THE DIVORCE RECORDS

Government Agent Investigating
Conditions in Richmond
Since 1888.

MAY MEAN NATIONAL LAW

Fewer Separation Decrees Granted Here Than in Most Cities of Same Size.

That the next Congress may take up the broad question of divorce, from a view of enacting a national divorce law, is believed to be a fact, since expert statisticians from Washington are investigating court records over the country generally. J. B. Conway, representing the Government, began work yesterday in the Law and Equity Court, securing the number of divorces granted from 1888 to date, with the grounds for each separation. Forty experts are now engaged in the same work in as many cities, but Mr. Conway was unwilling to say anything about his duties.

President Roosevelt has called attention to the increasing number of suits, and suggests that the laws be made more uniform with the hope of making divorce more difficult to secure. Not long ago there was a convention in Philadelphia, and in various other places the matter has been discussed by lawyers and ministers, who believe that a national law would make the marriage vows more binding. Every State, with the exception of South Carolina, recognizes the law on one ground or another, but South Carolina has refused to join in with the majority.

Richmond's record in this line is better than that of any other city with the same population, the small number of divorces being granted here putting the city in a high class by itself.

RUN SNATCH THIEVES.

Mrs. Weinstein and Her Daughter Are Robbed.

Passing through the First Market last night, Mrs. Weinstein and her daughter were approached by two negroes, one of whom jostled the two ladies, and the other snatched Mrs. Weinstein's handkerchief, in which she had wrapped her money. The ladies gave the alarm, and Mr. Sullivan, who was still in the market, and Policeman Jim Gary immediately gave chase. They caught the two negroes, who proved to be Lewis Foster and Harry Tuttle, and placed them under arrest. The men had on them $2.25, which they had snatched from Mrs. Weinstein.

HOUSEBREAKER CAUGHT.

Charles Jones Is Sent on to the Grand Jury.

Charles Jones and Charles Bonaparte, two negroes, appeared in the Police Court yesterday morning on the charge of housebreaking, and Jones was sent on to grand jury. Bonaparte was allowed to go free. This thief witness testified in the case that Jones had been seen at the window of a house in the eastern part of the city. He was yelled at, and he made off as quickly as possible.

The Lure of the Mountains.

Over the cable from the other side of the world recently came the news that the Workmans had at last succeeded in ascending the Himalayas to a height of over 20,000 feet above the sea. For years husband and wife have explored and studied these, the earth's highest peaks. To mount to the very tops has been their life ambition, and it has remained for a woman to exclaim, "Excelsior!" for Mrs. Hunter Workman has performed the greatest achievement in the mountain-climbing, ascending 350 feet higher than her husband. But while these intrepid American mountaineers were in the Asiatic upper world, the Due d'Abuzzi, the Italian conqueror of Saint Elias, had succeeded in penetrating the almost unknown regions about the Mountains of the Moon. At last this mystery to the African geographer has been cleared away, and man has stood on the highest summit of Tuwenzori, after overcoming difficulties which seemed well-nigh impossible, since these peaks are so far removed from the nearest human habitation. The next message was that Dr. Cook has finally succeeded in his endeavor to ascend McKinley, which towers above the clouds in Alaska. To the Lure of the Mountains do we owe many of the most important additions in geography, geology and natural history, but to it we also owe much of the increasing love for the outdoor life, the adventure which is harmless and healthful, for the life that makes a man look up, not down.—Day Allen Willey, in July Putnam's.

Law and Equity Court.

Judgments entered yesterday: Mrs. O. A. Francis vs. Phiney McClellan for $25.85; J. E. Moore's Sons (Inc.) vs. J. E. Collins for $40.

Decrees entered yesterday: Frank Underwood vs. Susie Underwood for divorce. Suit instituted by Mr. Lane Bait vs. National Insurance of Virginia for damages claimed at $600. Sadie G. Daniels vs. Claude H. Daniels for divorce.

The Snyder Pump and Well Company (Inc.) have just completed a well for the Seaboard Air Line Railway Company at Jacksonville, Fla., drilled eight inches in diameter to a depth of 400 feet, from which they are getting a natural flow of 3,500 gallons of water per minute, or the enormous amount of 2,100,000 gallons per day for twenty-four hours. They are also drilling another large ten-inch well for the city of Jacksonville.

Wise Talks by "The Office Boy"

Camp Hill, Pa., July 27, 1907.

Dear Junch:

What was it Solomon said about "separators"? Yesterday I went over to "Camp E. Z." and asked the man in charge there who it was that said, "A fool and his money soon in company," and he said it was Nero at the burning of Rome. Well, forget that, but don't forget while I'm away that we have the nicest summer coats in Alpaca, Skeleton, Lined Serges and Khaki Suits for summer outings, and another nice bunch of Outing or Tennis Trousers, in fine Light Colored Serges and Flannels, the delicate stripes and in plain grays. And don't forget our genuine discount sale of 15 per cent. off the original price tags. You won't mind being separated from a little of your hard-earned cash in exchange for these if you get your eyes on them. Only three more days to pick these plums. WILFIE.

LAW REACHES FOR PINE BEACH GANG

Flock of Grifters On "Outside
Warpath" Will Be Driven
Forth by Court.

GOVERNOR TAKES ACTION

Assures Director-General Barr and Judge Portlock of His Co-Operation.

Before returning to the city from the Eastern Shore, Governor Swanson gave Director-General Barr, of the Jamestown Exposition, and Judge Portlock, of the Norfolk County Circuit Court, every assurance that he would co-operate with them in suppressing the evil conditions which have made Pine Beach notorious. The Governor was called home Friday night on important business, and consequently could not remain in Norfolk to talk over the situation with those who must meet it.

"Judge Portlock and Mr. Barr will determine upon a course of action," said the Governor yesterday, "and I shall give them, as I said, every co-operation possible to the end that the conditions, which are obnoxious may be wiped out."

Will Read Riot Act.

Pine Beach has been in the public eye since the exposition opened, and before. Events in that fiery resort have been reported from time to time in the dispatches from Norfolk, and according to information of late, it has cut loose from none of its wicked ways. Indeed, the denizens have become more brazen.

The fire some weeks ago, which wiped out a number of hotels and various joints of amusement, did not purify the turbulent atmosphere, for now complaints have come to hand from quarters. It is believed, however, that Mr. Barr and Judge Portlock will read the riot act to the evildoers, whose performances have been extremely annoying to the exposition authorities, and particularly disgusting to the eyes of all decent people. The hope has been expressed that the days of the grifters are numbered.

Ordinarily, Pine Beach is, or has been, a delightful resort. Until the exposition was ready to open, its main attractions consisted of pavilions, and the things which go to make up a Little Coney Island of the South, together with a first-class hotel, which was removed from the real centre of festivities. Owners and managers enjoyed life in its simple way, taking the stray coins that drifted along, with visions of more when the great show was underway.

Outside Warpath.

The determination of the exposition management to wipe out all objectionable features of the Warpath gave the outsiders a happy idea, and they set forth the glad tidings that the Outside Warpath would be a thing of the past, and the things which go to make up a Little Coney Island of the South, together with a first-class hotel, which was removed from the real centre of festivities. Owners and managers enjoyed life in its simple way, taking the stray coins that drifted along, with visions of more when the great show was underway.

WIND STORM
SWEEPS TOWN

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
SALISBURY, N. C., July 27.—A destructive windstorm of cyclonic proportion swept Stanley and adjacent country last night, doing much damage to property.

Nearby Norwood a farmhouse was struck by lightning and a lady knocked senseless. At Albemarle a barn and its contents, including some fine horses and cattle, were burned from a stroke of lightning. Much damage was also sustained by growing crops.

Several important committee meetings will take place at the City Hall this week, and the following are comparatively full, there may be other calls for members to appear.

Three meetings will be held to-morrow night, all at the same hour. These are Streets, Printing and Amusement Taxation.

Wednesday night the Committee on Ordinance, Charter and Reform will receive the report of a subcommittee appointed to look into the liquor matter, and the report is awaited with interest. On Thursday night, the committee will call a public meeting, at which all persons concerned one way or the other in high license will be given an opportunity of being heard.

Thursday will be another busy day for the City Fathers. The Committee on Grounds and Public Buildings will meet that afternoon at 5 o'clock, and at 8 o'clock the Committee on Light and the Committee on Street Cleaning will meet.

Cemeteries will meet Friday noon.

GOVERNOR HAD FINE TRIP.

Delighted With Visit to Eastern Shore and Port Penning on Island.

Governor Swanson was fanned to a brown sea today when he returned to his office from the Eastern Shore. He was delighted with his trip, and while he was called upon to make a number of speeches the cordial greeting he received more than paid him for the exertion in hot weather. On Saxe and Tangier islands practically the entire population turned out to greet him, and the Governor said yesterday that he was greatly impressed with the evidences of thrift and prosperity. The pony-riding on Chincoteague Island was the best feature of the five days' outing, and the Governor of rounding up and branding the ponies was rather exciting at times. While the Governor was there 150 young horses were branded.

Hay Ride to Lakeside.

A delightful hay ride was given Tuesday evening from the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Gilchrist, 501 North Twenty-fourth Street. The drive was to Lakeside Park, where supper was served. Among the party were Misses Kate Gilchrist, Margaret Gilchrist, Ruth Weisner, Mamie Shelton, Carrie Blue, Ella Blue, Katie Henderson, a Blue Riley, and Virginia Eubank, of Fredericksburg, Va.; Messrs. R. J. Tuck, Dan Clark, Robert Clark, William Griggs, Frederick Thompson, Emory Clayton and Harry Corbitt. The party was chartered by Mrs. John K. Gilchrist.

CHILDREN OF COL. GOODE GATHER IN HIS HONOR

Family Reunion at Sunnyside Greatly Enjoyed—Long and Honorable Career.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
CHASE CITY, VA., July 27.—A family reunion was held Sunday last at "Sunny Side," the home of Colonel J. Thomas Goode, near Chase City, Va., to celebrate the seventy-second anniversary of the birthday of the old hero.

Colonel Goode's life has been varied and eventful. Educated at the Virginia Military Institute in the '50s, he left that institution, and was commissioned an officer in the United States army. He then served in the Florida wars and endured great hardships, living at times on mule meat. He was afterwards on the Western frontier, fighting Indians. Then the clouds of Civil War threatened the South. He traveled thousands of miles across the country to share the fortunes of his native State in the impending crisis. Resigning his office, he entered the Confederate army and was chosen colonel of the Thirty-fourth Virginia Regiment of Infantry. At a reunion of Armistead Camp, four years ago, he gave a graphic description of his experiences at the battle of the Crater. He surrendered at Appomattox, and his regiment, the Thirty-fourth Virginia, in the list given in Southern Historical Papers, shows more than 1,000 names. He was paroled with any other Virginia regiment—men and officers to the number of 244.

Children's Children.

His children and grandchildren attending the reunion were: Mrs. H. G. Daniel, Miss Mollie Goode Daniel, and Morton Goode, Daniel, of Prince Edward county, Va.; Mrs. Sarah Bedford Mitchell, of Franklinton, N. C.; Mrs. Clifford Branch and Clifford Branch, Jr., of Burgham, N. C.; Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Bug, of Phillips, Va.; Mrs. B. L. Ledford, and Miss Beatie Goode Jeffreys, of Madison, Va.; Mr. J. Thomas Goode, Jr., and Mr. W. E. Epps, of Chase City, Va.; and Mr. Morton Goode, of Lynchburg, Va.

The reunion was enjoyable, the entertainment appropriate to the occasion. Fine cards bearing the coat of arms of the Goode family, each giving an incident in the life of the distinguished colonel, were read between the courses. Colonel Goode has been married four times, yet he is not old in appearance, is sprightly, unimpaired, and a worthy citizen. He represented the county of Mecklenburg since the war in the House of Delegates, and was really elected to Congress some years ago from this district. He contested the election and failed, but overcame some technicality, while a majority of the votes was returned in his favor.

He is a successful farmer and a lover of blooded horses, and is at present a member of the Board of Agriculture and Immigration from the Fourth District of Virginia.

He is the only man now living who reached the position of colonel in the county of Mecklenburg.

At a meeting of the survivors of the Thirty-fourth Virginia Regiment held at Chase City, Va., during the great reunion in June, when over 150 were present, pleasant allusions were made to the absent colonel, and Captain T. D. Jeffers, of the Fifty-sixth Virginia, who happened to be present, informed them that their colonel was still living and in good health, most respected and honored citizens of the county of Mecklenburg.

PRESENTED TO THE HISTORICAL SOCIETY

The following articles from the Revolutionary Arsenal and Gun Works at Point of Fork, Fluvanna county, have been presented to the Virginia Historical Society:

Ten musket flints by Henry E. Wood, of Brems Bluffs, Fluvanna county, Va.; one four-pound cannon ball, one grape shot and one forging iron, by Austin Shepherd, of Columbia, Fluvanna county, Va.; one musket flint, one ax and one forging hammer, by J. M. Sturges, of Fluvanna county, Va.

These articles were presented on July 4, 1907, and form an interesting collection. Baron von Steuben, who rendered such efficient service in organizing the American troops, was in command of the army some time during the War of the Revolution.

To Save a Million.

CHICAGO, July 27.—The revenue derived from hauling the United States mails by the railroads running west from Chicago, St. Louis, St. Paul and Minneapolis, has been estimated to be to be further reduced approximately $1,000,000 a year, owing to the reports of 125 inspectors, who have been at work for the last six months determining whether the space used in railway postal cars by the government was more than warranted.

Yesterday officers in charge of mails on the western roads having headquarters in Chicago received notice from the Postoffice Department cutting down the space to forty feet on several routes, making a reduction of $15 a mile, or a saving of the government of $7,500 a year in a 500-mile run for a single car. There are generally six cars on each route.

INCENDIARY BURNS BARN OF PROMINENT FARMER

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
SALISBURY, N. C., July 27.—A barn of William Beck, a prominent farmer of Farmington, Davie county, was burned at midnight by incendiary fire. There is, however, a suspicion as to the guilty party, and bloodhounds were brought from Salisbury to-day to place on the trail. Considerable property was also destroyed by the fire.

FLAGS FOR LEE CAMP.

Emblem Lost at Petersburg to Be Returned by Boston.

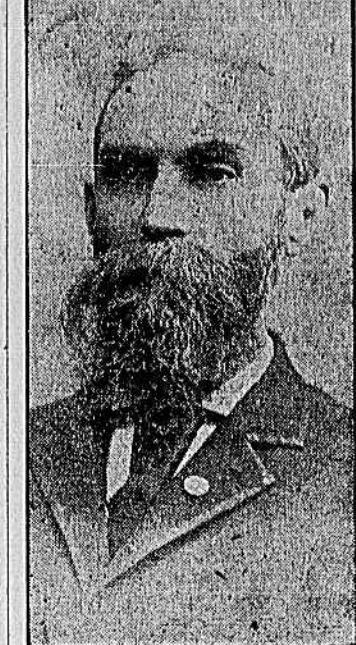

G. M. Kendall, of Boston, has presented to Lee Camp, Confederate Veterans, a flag which is supposed to have been the property of Major D. B. Bridger, of the 10th North Carolina regiment, of Army of Northern Virginia. The flag was picked up after the evacuation of Petersburg in April, 1865, and was recently sent into the possession of Mr. Kendall. Several pictures of it have been sent here, and when Mr. Kendall offered it to the veterans they decided to accept it.

JACK THE RIPPER ALARMS BERLIN

Three Children, Horribly Gashed
by Unknown Man, Are Dying.

MOB TRY TO LYNCH SUSPECT

BERLIN, July 26.—A series of cold-blooded crimes, singularly resembling the "Jack the Ripper" murders, but for the fact that instead of women the victims were little girls, followed one another with remarkable celerity to-day almost in the centre of the city, and aroused the most intense excitement and indignation.

Within a short space of time the assassin successfully enticed three girls, the oldest only five years old, into doorways and stabbed them several times in the abdomen with a sharp instrument. As a result one of the children is dead, another is dying and the third is dangerously wounded.

The first knowledge that the crimes had been committed came when an occupant of the house at Ryke and Belton Streets, found the body of Margaritha Bravitz, aged four, lying in the doorway bathed in blood, and with the lower part of the body horribly gashed. This was immediately reported to the police, who were about to proceed to investigate the case when reports came that Martha Lenz, aged three, and Elly Knispel, five years old, had been found similarly mutilated, but still alive, in Preslar Alley and Hensendorfer Street, respectively. The two victims were transported to a hospital, and they are not expected to survive.

The officials acted quickly in an endeavor to locate the murderer, and published an offer of a reward of $1,000 for his capture.

Tried to Lynch Suspect.

All the available police and detectives were ordered to scour the neighborhood. Some parents have reported that their children had seen a haggard man about twenty-seven years of age, well-dressed and wearing a cap, offering candy to the little girls whom he asked to accompany him.

A man was arrested shortly afterwards, who answered somewhat to this indefinite description the police had secured. Later he was confronted by the two wounded children, who, however, were too weak to respond to the questions put to them.

The man was taken in a cab guarded by police to the police station. The crowd outside the station, believing him to be the murderer, attempted to drag the man from the vehicle and lynch him, and he was only saved by the policemen drawing their swords and holding the crowd at bay. The people then attempted to storm the station and the prisoner was removed to the central station for security.
